To whom it may concern,

Triplo4 Sustainable Solutions (Triplo4), an environmental service provider, assisted Grindrod in identifying potential environmental constraints and risks associated with the possible acquisition of a business.

Triplo4 developed detailed checklists and, through the site visits undertaken and documentation review, provided detailed findings summarised in an accompanying report. In addition, a high-level risk report was produced that supported decision-making regarding environmental risk.

The comprehensive investigation into site-specific details, together with a high-level view, provided the required environmental information for acquisition purposes and will also assist Grindrod with operational implementation where required.

As a result of the thoroughness of the due diligence assessment, additional risks were identified, and the required contractual considerations could be ensured.

Sincerely
Executive - Business Development
